

CCS Seminars

The Center for Chinese Studies kicked off the new year with a series of seminars featuring guest speakers from leading universities in Japan and Korea.

On January 28, Mr. Sae-Bong Ha, a researcher at the Institute of International Studies at Pusan National University spoke on the topic, "East Asian Cities Regions and Cities in the 1930s from the Perspective of Trade Statistics." The seminar was hosted by Mr. Chih-kuo Cheng (程哲國) of the Intellectual Property Rights Bureau under the Ministry of Economic Affairs.

On February 11 seminar, Mr. Sin Ju Back, a researcher at the Institute of Eastern Culture at the University of Tokyo in Japan, spoke on the topic, "The Status and Function of the Korean Army in Korea During the Colonial Period in the 1910s." The seminar was hosted by Prof. Shu-min Chung (鍾淑敏), director of the planning office of Academia Sinica's Institute of Taiwan History.

On February 18, Mr. Im Dae Heui, an assistant professor of history at Korea's Kyungpook National University, delivered the keynote address on the topic "A Comparative Study of the Compilation of Song Laws and the Exegesis on Tang Legal Statutes." The seminar was presided by Prof. Kao Ming-shih (高明士) of the Graduate Institute of History at National Taiwan University.

The fourth seminar, held on February 24, was chaired by Prof. Shu-hsien Liu (劉述先) of the Institute of Chinese History at Academia Sinica. The keynote speaker was Dr. Hye-Gyung Yi of the Institute for Research in Humanities at Kyoto University. Dr. Yi's paper was entitled, "The Theories of Lu Shih as Seen from His Critique of Major Chinese Philosophers."